Revised Subject-Specific Provisions for the Master of Science in Business Administration (MSc) in the University of Hamburg Business School

dated 18 September 2024

On 15 October 2025 pursuant to Section 108 subsection 1 sentence 3 of the Hamburg higher education act (Hamburgisches Hochschulgesetz, HmbHG) dated 18 July 2001 (HmbGVBl. p. 171), as amended by law on 11 July 2025 (HmbGVBl. p. 250), the Executive University Board of the University of Hamburg ratified the Revised Subject-Specific Provisions for the Master of Science in Business Administration (MSc) adopted by the faculty council of the Faculty of Business Administration on 18 September 2024 pursuant to Section 91 subsection 2 no. 1 HmbHG taking into account the General Examination Regulations for Academic Examinations at the University of Hamburg dated 25 January 2018, 22 February 2018, and 8 November 2018.

Preamble

These subject-specific provisions supplement the Examination Regulations of the University of Hamburg Business School for Master of Science Degree Programs (MSc) (date of the ratification) as amended.

I. Supplemental provisions

Section 1

Program and examination objectives, academic degree, and implementation of the degree program

Section 1 subsection 1:

Expanding on the business administration focus of the bachelor's degree program, the goal of the degree program is to provide in-depth methodological, theoretical, and practical knowledge and skills in the field of business administration as well as general and subject-specific key qualifications. The degree program is research-oriented and places a correspondingly high weight on methodological and research-based content. Students who have successfully completed the degree program have in-depth methodological and research-oriented knowledge and skills as well as a specialization in two independently selected focus fields in business administration. They are thus prepared for careers in academia and research in the field of business administration, but also for management positions in corporations.

Section 1 subsection 3:

As part of the Master of Science in Business Administration (MSc) students have the opportunity to participate in a Double Degree Program (DDP), which allows them to obtain an academic degree from another university or equivalent institution of higher education in addition to the Master of Science (MSc) from the University of Hamburg. The cooperation partners available for this as well as the special admission requirements and curricula applicable in each case are listed in Annex II.

In Section 1 subsection 4:

The degree program is offered and organized by the Faculty of Business Administration.

In Section 4

Program and examination organization, modules, and ECTS credits

In Section 4 subsection 2 and subsection 3:

The master's degree program in business administration comprises 120 ECTS credits. Of these, at least 96 ECTS credits must be in subjects specific to the field of business administration and 24 ECTS credits in elective courses.

The 96 ECTS credits to be earned in the subject-specific area of business administration are allocated as follows:

- a) Methods: 18 credit points or ECTS credits
- b) Focus field I (SPF I): 24 credit points or ECTS credits
- c) Focus field II (SPF II): 24 credit points or ECTS credits
- d) Final module (master's thesis): 30 credit points or ECTS credits

The Master of Science in Business Administration is divided into two phases: Study Phase I (first to third subject semesters)—in which the students complete elective and required elective modules in the free elective area, in both focus fields, and in the methods component—and in Study Phase II (fourth semester), in which the students complete their master's thesis.

Sample course schedule:

First subject semester	Methods 6 ECTS WP PA: *	Methods 6 ECTS WP PA: *	SPF I 6 ECTS WP PA: *	SPF II 6 ECTS WP PA: *	FWB 6 ECTS W PA: **
Second subject semester	SPF I 6 ECTS WP PA: *	SPF I 6 ECTS WP PA: *	SPF II 6 ECTS WP PA: *	SPF II 6 ECTS WP PA: *	FWB 6 ECTS W PA: **
Third subject semester	Methods 6 ECTS WP PA: *	SPF I 6 ECTS WP PA: *	SPF II 6 ECTS WP PA: *	FWB 6 ECTS W PA: 	FWB 6 ECTS W PA: **
Fourth subject semester	Final module Master's thesis (30 ECTS credits): written in the methods component or in SPF I or SPF II.

Subject semester (FS), focus field (SPF), free elective area (FWB), required elective module (WP), elective module (W), examination type (W)

*: An examination in accordance with Section 13 subsection 4. The exact type of examination will be announced at the beginning of the course.

: Depending on the module descriptions of the respective degree programs; if business administration modules are chosen: an examination in accordance with Section 13 subsection 4. The exact type of examination will be announced at the beginning of the course.

The subjects listed in Appendix I (Catalog of Focus Fields) may be selected as focus fields, according to availability. Section 6 of the examination regulations applies mutatis mutandis. Students who have been granted admission to the English-language track can only choose focus fields designated as "English."

The examinations board for the Master of Science in Business Administration may decide to include or exclude focus fields from the catalog. Students will be promptly informed in an appropriate manner about any such decisions. If a focus field from the catalog is removed, it will be ensured that students who have already earned ECTS credits in the respective focus field will still be able to complete it as planned.

A seminar module must be successfully completed in one of the two focus fields.

In the free elective area, students may choose to expand their knowledge into interdisciplinary fields by successfully completing those courses or modules from other master's programs offered at the University of Hamburg that have been so marked and made available, or expand their knowledge of business administration by participating in additional subject-specific modules.

All of the modules offered in the degree program are required elective modules or elective modules worth 6 ECTS credits each.

At least three different modules (lecture + practical course) and a seminar module (amounting to a total of at least 24 ECTS credits) will be offered per focus field per academic year. At least four different modules (amounting to a total of 24 ECTS credits) will be offered per academic year in the Methods component.

In Section 5 Course types

In Section 5 subsection 2:

Courses and module examinations will be conducted in English or German. The language will be announced at the beginning of the course.

In Section 5 subsection 4:

Attendance is mandatory for all seminars (including in the case of a repeated attempt) due to their interactive nature and desired learning outcomes of gaining skills in academic presentation and discussion. Students are strongly advised to also attend all other kinds of courses with equal regularity.

In Section 10

Deadlines and number of module examinations

In Section 10 subsections 1 and 2:

In seminar modules and other modules with at least two independent course examinations, the timing of which renders the retaking of individual course examinations impossible, the course examinations will only be offered once. In this case, the option to repeat applies only to the module as a whole. The examinations board will decide and appropriately communicate to the students which other modules are affected by these rules outside of these seminar modules. Students are strongly advised to take the first opportunity to sit, or in the event of not passing, to repeat the examination for every module.

In Section 13

Completed coursework and module examinations

In Section 13 subsection 1:

In the following modules, the successful completion of academic achievements may be a prerequisite for participation in the module examination: "Data Mining," "Business Process Management," "IT and Business Process Sourcing," and "Computer-based Planning." The requirements for admission to the course examinations as well as the type and scope of any coursework to be completed will be announced at the start of the respective course.

In Section 13 subsection 4:

The types of examination are stipulated in these provisions under Section 4 subsection 2.

In Section 14

Master's thesis

In Section 14 subsection 1:

The master's thesis must be written in the methods component or in one of the focus fields selected by the student. Section 6 of the examination regulations applies mutatis mutandis.

In Section 14 subsection 6:

The master's thesis must be written in either German or English. The language for the thesis is set by the examiner supervising the work, in some cases based on the suggestion of the student. Students are not permitted to switch between languages within the thesis.

In Section 15

Evaluation of examinations

In Section 15 subsection 1:

It will be announced at the beginning of the course whether and how successfully completed coursework will result in any bonus points. Bonus points may improve a successfully completed module examination by a maximum of 0,7.

In Section 15 subsection 3 sentence 5:

If multiple course examinations are included in the module grade, the overall grade for the module is calculated from the arithmetic mean of the individual course examinations. Should the calculation method deviate from this, it will be announced at the start of the respective course.

In Section 15 subsection 3 sentence 9:

The overall final grade for the master's degree program is calculated as a weighted average grade based on the ECTS credits from the individual modules from both focus fields (each worth 24 ECTS credits), the methods component (18 ECTS credits), and the master's thesis (30 ECTS credits). Modules amounting to 24 ECTS credits must be completed in the free elective area and graded as "passed," as the grades from the free elective area are not included in the overall grade.

In Section 17

Cheating and violation of regulations

The use of generative artificial intelligence (AI)—in accordance with the guidelines for using generative AI tools (gAI) for student assignments and theses in the University of Hamburg Business School in the version valid at the time of the examination or admission to the thesis is generally permitted unless it is excluded by the examiner.

In Section 23

Effective date

These Subject-Specific Provisions become effective on the day following official publication by the University of Hamburg. They first apply to students commencing their studies in Winter Semester 2024/2025.
